KEEPING YOU WORK READY: SUBJECT TASTER SESSIONS

@MESCAREERSDEPT
@CAREERSMECE

For Year 12 students especially, it is likely that thoughts are now turning to the challenge of choosing universities or apprenticeship providers and identifying the perfect course to study for the next phase of your life.

Attending a virtual subject taster session from a university or college is a fantastic way to engage with this process. Here's why...

You can discover if a subject is really for you. This is especially the case if you are struggling to choose between subjects or are applying for one you have not studied before

Universities want students with a genuine passion for the subject they are applying to - talking about a taster session in your personal statement is a great way to show this

Take a look at our pick of the subject taster days on offer below...

Royal Holloway's fantastic range of taster days in June and July include Maths, Psychology, Law and Criminology, Classics, and Geography <https://tinyurl.com/y6vvpzgy>

Loughborough University's Inspiring Minds Social Sciences and Humanities interactive taster event between 17-21 June is open to Year 11-13 students <https://tinyurl.com/ya4dnrr0>

The University of Sheffield are offering subject taster days throughout June and July in courses including Chemistry, English, and History <https://tinyurl.com/ybfaangy>

Year 10 and 11 need not feel left out! Henley College are running taster sessions in a range of subjects including Health & Social Care and Sport <https://tinyurl.com/y93hopnr>
